CONGRESS FINALLY CRACKED THE FORCED ARBITRATION WALL

In March 2022, a strongly bi-partisan bill, "The Ending Forced Arbitration of Sexual Assault and Sexual Harassment Act of 2021, passed Congress and was signed into law. The law now bans employers' use of forced arbitration clauses in cases involving sexual harassment and sexual assault. This was the first major, permanent crack in the "forced arbitration" wall erected by the U.S. Supreme Court more than a decade ago.
