

Spotlight On Justice

AUTO INSURANCE COMPANIES MADE A WINDFALL FROM THE PANDEMIC

When people were home, there was a huge decline in driving, car accidents, and insurance claims. Yet companies generally collected the same premiums. As a result, companies pocketed hundreds of millions – or in some cases over a billion – dollars more than they made the year before, paying dividends to shareholders instead of refunding premiums.

See more at FatCatInsurancelsle.com

Center for Justice & Democracy

185 West Broadway
New York, NY 10013
212.431.2882
www.centerjd.org

CENTER FOR JUSTICE
DEMOCRACY
CJ&D
at NEW YORK LAW SCHOOL