TESLA KEEPS RECALLING CARS

Tesla has recalled more than 125,000 vehicles to fix a problem with their seat belt warning systems.

It is also recalling its Cybertruck pickup for the fourth time in the U.S. to fix problems with trim pieces that can come loose and front windshield wipers that can fail.

"Tesla recalls more than 125,000 vehicles due to seat belt problem," CBS News, May 31, 2024;
"For Tesla's futuristic new Cybertruck, a fourth recall," Associated Press, June 25, 2024.
